

Fusion Lite™ from RegaLead

RegaLead's range of Fusion glass tiles was first introduced in 2002 to give customers a simple, cost effective method of creating contemporary decorative designs without the need for expensive fusing equipment.

Now well established and used extensively in the window and door market, Fusion tiles are also ideal for use as feature pieces on shower screens or mirrors. We now offer over 100 designs in 5 colour ways and our recent additions to this popular range have been a selection of clear tiles made from textured glasses that give a stunning 3 dimensional effect.

Fusion Lite™ is our latest range. The 37 tiles are available as diamonds and squares in four transparent colour ways as well as the new opaque neutral colours.

The tiles are manufactured from top quality Spectrum™ fusing compatible glass to ensure consistency of colour, clarity and repeatability.

The Fusion Lite™ range is also very consistent in size and all the tiles have smooth highly polished backs to ensure a perfectly flat surface for UV bonding. With the 2-3mm edges on these tiles a whole range of new applications are available to glass designers –

The thinner edges give the tiles a sharper shape definition than the standard Fusion™ tiles so they are ideal for applying adhesive lead around. Designers can now incorporate Fusion Lite™ into Overlay panel designs in the same way as glass bevels.

The thinner edges also allow the product to be used in traditional lead or zinc comes with a standard 3mm channel. Designers can now effectively combine traditional techniques and contemporary fused glass pieces to create modern Leaded Light designs

As the products are dimensionally accurate to within 1mm and have 2-3mm edges they are ideal for inserting into the increasingly popular decorative Grille systems that are available in the market. The angles on the diamonds are 55° and 125° to suit the most popular systems.

Fusion and Fusion Lite, as well as the Italian Vetro range of tiles, are all featured in our new brochure The Art of Fused Glass Tiles, available from our sales office in early July.
